Customer Reviews

This book is all about the strategies and how to get the most out of your efforts when applying for college and scholarships. It relates to the first-time college student more than anyone else, so if you're a graduate student or even an undergrad with a couple years under your belt, this book isn't for you. Published in 2012, the information in the book is still relevant to today however, if the student interested in this information is frequently in contact with a good school counselor or taking a class like 'College Prep' which focuses on this information anyway, this book may contain old news. What this book will do is prepare students for who are unfamiliar with the process to complete the FAFSA (federal financial aid form), get to thinking about how to sell themselves to colleges and scholarship committees, do well in an interview, and think about funding for college.-----The bottom line: this book lays out a plan for action, which is its greatest strength and the reason you should consider buying it. Section 1: The Preparation gets you to thinking about telling your story through essays, and how those relate to getting scholarship money. Section 2: Build Your Board is all about the team you have on your side during this process. Section 3: Find Funding is about locating scholarships and filling out the all-important FAFSA form. Section 4: Prepare Your Package is a reminder to gather information and recommendations to sell yourself to those looking to give you admission and scholarships. Section 5: Ace Your Interview is about the what to do and what not to do of your college entrance interview, but it can also relate to any scholarship interviews.
